

After moving back to Alberton, having lived in Ballito for the last twelve years and concentrating on my art and interior design and decorating, found myself at a bit of a loose end. Taking into consideration my artistic flair, particularly in the arena of portraits, in all mediums, needed to utilise my skills, earned over most of my life, without sacrificing my critical eye and enhancing hand. At the same time, some surgery had left me with a scar that was very difficult to hide with makeup, so the search began. I came across permanent makeup, enabling me to utilise many different methods to enhance a persons features. Perfect, the critical eye and artistic proportions I had learned Through the years would be the backbone of this. The necessary instruction and courses were undertaken, Resulting in an internationally recognised accreditation with The "MPSI" (Micro Pigmentation Society International). Perma Ink was born, specialising in permanent makeup, dry needling, scar camouflage and tattoo removal.
